Civilian Military Support Group NEWSLETTER

President's Remarks

by Al Hoffman

Allen Hoffman

The year 2018 has gotten off to a busy and good one for Civ-Mil, and all indications are that it will continue to be such. As noted in our last edition, the latest Officers and Board of Directors were installed at a memorable combined Installation and AFMC Community Liaison Program (CLP) hosting event on October 12th. Our two new Directors, Cathy Hart and Scott Cummings, have already brought additional energy and ideas to our organization. We have already enjoyed some significant events and there is more ahead, more that will require the energy and assistance from our Board and Membership. It's all good.

Let's get right to the biggest news. 412th Test Wing and Edwards AFB Commander, Brigadier Carl Schaefer has been selected for promotion to Major General. Major General (selectee) Schaefer will be transferring to Wright-Patterson AFB to assume duties as the Vice Commander, Air Force Materiel Command (AFMC). Assuming the role as the next 412th Test Wing Commander will be Brigadier General (selectee) John Teichert. Colonel Teichert is no stranger to Edwards AFB as he did command the 411th FLTS, the F-22 Combined Test Force (CTF). Change of Command is scheduled for Wednesday, July 18th.

Major General David Harris, Commander, Air Force Test Center (AFTC), has announced his retirement. Brigadier General Christopher Azzano, presently commanding the 11th Wing at Joint Base Andrews, will assume the duties as AFTC Commander. Brigadier General Azzano is no stranger to Edwards AFB as well, as he had served as Operations Group Commander for the Test Wing.

Civ-Mil certainly extends both Generals Harris and Schaefer fondest wishes for these next roles in their careers and lives. I can personally state that it has been a real honor and pleasure to have worked with both and their fabulous wives. This organization is better for our relationship with them and I must believe that we've helped them make a difference in the lives of all the Airmen, Sailors, Marines, Soldiers and their families on Edwards AFB. We look forward to continuing that strong relationship with Generals Azzano and Teichert.

This year kicked into high gear for Civ-Mil as several of us attended the 412th Test Wing Annual Awards on Saturday evening, February 9th. The outstanding military and civilian performers of the past year were honored in grand fashion in Hangar 1600. The ceremony was good, complete with special guest Lieutenant General Arnie Bunch returning to Edwards AFB for a couple of days from The Pentagon, good food, and great entertainment. Of course it's always extra special to dine and celebrate amongst so many special people - and present day and historical aircraft such as a B-52, F-22, F-35, F-16, F-117, and an X-15 mock-up.

Thanks to the kindness of local citizen Ann Flair, the Airman Leadership School (ALS) has a welcome recreational addition for the students. Ann donated a pool table. Civ-Mil was able to facilitate the transport and proper set-up of the pool table in April. A much appreciated addition to ALS.

Civ-Mil was represented as the local Pete Knight Chapter of the Air Force Association (AFA) held a reception recognizing and bidding farewell to the various departing commanders and directors at Edwards AFB. General and Mrs. Schaefer kindly made their home available for this event.

The Membership of Edwards AFB Civ-Mil were invited for a day-long visit on Edwards AFB on Friday, May 18th. This event was hosted by Brigadier General Schaefer. Key organization and facilitation was provided by 1st Lieutenant Phillip Garretson and Chief Master Sergeant Roosevelt Jones. Support and accompaniment was also courtesy of Colonel Jason Schott, 412th Test Wing Vice Commander, who will also be retiring soon, and Colonel Jim Roethe, the local IMA / Air Force Reserve Commander. Our guests were treated to a great behind-the-scenes look at various facilities and programs on Edwards AFB. This was a great blend of the more human side - or life on the Base - aspect as well as the hardware or mission specific programs that are part of Edwards flight and weapons testing. Our group was able in several instances to see and hear how the Civ-Mil organization has a positive impact for those Airmen, Sailors, Marines, Soldiers, and their families - both US military and our international partners - assigned at Edwards AFB. Visits were made to the Airmen's dorm area, including the Civ-Mil supported Higher Grounds Internet Café; Airman Leadership School; a special visit to see up close America's newest fighter, the F-35 Lightning II, the Air Force Flight Test Museum, including the restoration and storage facility on North Base, the historical loading pit for the Bell X-1 on South Base, a drive along the flightline viewing aircraft such as the C-17, F-22, T-38, F-16, and the B-52 and B-1 bombers; and the Emerging Technologies Group with their ongoing work involving unmanned systems. Lunch was at the DFAC - the Base dining facility for uniformed personnel. The day's activities was capped off with a reception hosted by General Schaefer at Club Muroc. We need to give a shout-out to our excellent guide for the day, Steve Zapka of the Public Affairs Office. He has such a wealth of knowledge about the current mission activities underway as well as the history of the Base. Also, a shout-out to Tony Moore of the Museum staff for his involvement. He shared much historical perspective as well as some good stories. I would say that all who participated really enjoyed the experience and learned more about Edwards AFB history, its mission, and the people. A part 2 for a day on Edwards? Well of course, so stay tuned.

One key remark by Steve Zapka during the Base's Outreach Day for our organization:
"Civ-Mil is the 412th's Wingman."

The following day, Saturday, May 19th, a contingent of Civ-Mil volunteers served breakfast to retirees and family members which was part of the Edwards AFB Military Retirees Appreciation Day. The event was held in Hangar 1210, currently home to the B-1 and B-52 bombers and workforce. One of the mighty B-1Bs served as backdrop for all the guests and the featured speakers as well as various agencies and organizations offering services to our Veterans. Serving a warm breakfast from Civ-Mil were Mike Belzil, Bill McCabe, Scott Cummings, and myself. Fun morning.

Several activities are coming up for Civ-Mil. Elections to the Board of Directors are quickly approaching this summer. Each year 1/3 of the 21 Member Board of Directors is up for re-election. This year Directors Matt Winheim, Bob Slade, Rhonda Nelson, Mark Thompson, George Nagy, Les Uhazy, and David Norris have terms expiring and will seek re-election (or not). Our Nominating Committee for Class of 2021 Directors is led by Lisa Moulton, assisted by John Fergione. Should anyone have an interest in serving on our Board – a 3 year term – please contact us ASAP.

SAVE-THE-DATE! July 20th is our annual Barbeque. On this particular Friday evening we'll be again gathering for food and fun at the amazing Hacienda Lane Ranch. Bob and Michelle Slade once again are at the helm for the BBQ. Rhonda Nelson is handling RSVPs for this not-to-be-missed affair, which will feature the return of the California Spoiled Doves for some memorable entertainment. Details and RSVP / payment information is available on the flyer within this newsletter or by going to www.eafbcivmil.org.

A couple later September, perhaps early October, events will be our annual Installation banquet and ceremony. The date is TBD so stay tuned. It may just combine again with another reason to celebrate, as we did last year. Civ-Mil is looking at organizing and executing a fun and fundraising golf tournament this year. This will be at the Muroc Golf Course on Edwards AFB and the date is set for Friday, September 28th. Our Vice President Rhonda Nelson has the lead on this activity and will be assisted by Directors Scott Cummings and John Fergione along with new Member Bill McCabe. Please stay tuned for information forthcoming on this. And should anyone like to volunteer to assist with this endeavor please e-mail Rhonda at jazzyrj1@aol.com.

Lastly, another SAVE-THE-DATE! The Edwards AFB Civilian-Military support Group is going to host a Holidays Dinner this year. We will combine this with a "Welcome to the Antelope Valley" event for all of the new Air Force, other services, and International members and families. We've held a couple of these successful events in the past – usually January; however we've decided to combine a newly conceived affair with this important resource for regional information for all recent arrivals to Edwards AFB, AFRL, and Air Force Plant 42. The date is Friday, December 7th. The venue will be the University of Antelope Valley's PEC or Pioneer Event Center adjacent to the Jethawks Stadium in Lancaster. Details will be provided via e-mails, flyers, and our website www.eafbcivmil.org.

With that, here's wishing everyone a most enjoyable and safe summer. Remember schools are out; children are out and about. Drive safely. Hoping to see all y'all during the summer – like at the BBQ.

Thank you for all you do to help Civ-Mil help our friends and community partners at Edwards AFB.

Edwards AFB Hosts Civ-Mil for a Day on the Base

Members, family, and friends of the Edwards AFB Civilian-Military Support Group were recently afforded a unique opportunity to spend a day on Edwards AFB visiting various organizations, facilities, and programs. The day-long visit on Friday, May 18, provided the guests a deeper understanding of the mission of the Base and how Civ-Mil's support and contributions have made a positive impact upon that mission.

The group was greeted by Brigadier General Carl Schaefer, Commander, 412th Test Wing and Edwards AFB, Colonel Jim Roethe, IMA (Individual Mobilization Augmentee) Commander, and Chief Master Sergeant Roosevelt Jones, 412th Test Wing Command Chief. Colonel Roethe and Chief Jones spent the entire day with the group. The day began at the Air Force Flight Test Museum with remarks by General Schaefer followed by explanations of the various exhibits and Edwards history by Museum assistant Tony Moore and Edwards Public Affairs employee Steve Zapka.

The remainder of the day consisted of various stops across the Base, with behind-the-scenes commentary by Steve Zapka. The group visited the airmen's dormitory area which includes the Higher Grounds Internet Café, a gathering place for the airmen to play games, watch TV, work using the internet, and hold parties and other social gatherings, or just plain relax. Higher Grounds was established with support from Civ-Mil in 2007 and the organization continues to provide support for updating the Café. The Airman Leadership School (ALS) was also visited, where everyone learned how airman cycle through the 24 day school learning about the qualities of leadership.

A highlight of the tour was a specially arranged visit to the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter (JSF) Combined Test Force (CTF). An up-close look at America's newest fighter jet with explanations of its capabilities, mission, and the Edwards flight test program was provided. The F-35's three variants – A, B, and C – will be flown by the US Air Force, US Navy, and US Marine Corps as well as 8 international partner countries. The Navy, Marines, and some international partners are also on Edwards AFB as part of the test program.

Riding along the flightline, the group saw several of the other platforms being tested on the Base – C-17, F-22, F-16, B-1B, and B-52. They also saw key facilities such as the Benefield Anechoic Facility and Air Force Test Pilot School. A trip to North Base permitted the guests to visit the historic original P-59 hangar currently in use by the Air Force Flight Test Museum for aircraft and asset restoration and storage – F-117, A-3D, XB-47, and Phantom Eye included. While on North Base the group visited with Emerging Technologies and were briefed on some of the cutting edge work underway with unmanned systems.

A brief visit to South Base afforded the group to visit “inside the pit.” The pit is the loading pit where the X-1 was loaded on the B-29 mothership aircraft on October 14, 1947, and was later released with Captain Chuck Yeager at the controls. It would be that day that the sound barrier was broken over Edwards AFB.

Pool Table Donation Benefits Airman Leadership School

By Mike Belzil

Earlier this spring, Civ-Mil completed the delivery of a pool table to Airman Leadership School (ALS) to complement ongoing facility upgrades by the 412th Civil Engineer Group. The donation was facilitated by Aida O'Connor who was contacted by the donor, Ann Flair, a Palmdale resident. Upon confirmation of the donation, Civ-Mil took the task of getting the pool table delivered to the base.

George Nagy worked with base enlisted leaders on a plan to move the pool table and identify the delivery location. George also coordinated with a local expert, South Pacific Pool Tables, to disassemble the table, transport it to the base and reassemble it. The decision was made to donate the table to ALS. Enlisted leaders and the ALS staff believe the pool table will provide welcomed relief during study breaks and help promote camaraderie among the students.

Civ-Mil members had the opportunity to see the pool table in the study lounge at ALS during a recent facility tour as part of a base visit hosted by Brigadier General Carl Schaefer. Thanks to the generosity of Ann Flair and the work of Civ-Mil to facilitate the donation, students at ALS will be able to use and enjoy the pool table for relaxation and relationship building.

Civil engineers working to give Edwards bright future

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. --

The 412th Civil Engineering Group is in phase two of a base-wide, major lighting upgrade, which replaces inefficient fluorescent lighting with new LED lighting complete with motion sensors and programmable controls. Each phase will take about a year to complete.

“In California the average home uses 6,684 kilowatts and we saved 2,310,108 kilowatt hours, which is equivalent to powering 345 California homes,” said John Shartzter, 412th CEG Energy and Utilities engineering technician.

New LED lights are brighter and work more efficiently than what workers are accustomed to. Previously, lighting in some hangars was so inefficient that maintenance workers would need to bring in light stands to see what they were doing, according to Shartzter.

Lighting was not only replaced, but additional fixtures were also added to base aircraft hangars. The new light fixtures' motion sensors allow for only essential lights to be on when needed. Once a worker leaves a lighted area with the sensors, a timer times out and the lights are turned off, saving a lot of energy, Shartzter said.

Phase one cost $3.9 million with upgrades made to eight buildings consisting of hangars and administration offices. Lighting fixtures were replaced, and in some offices, retrofit kits were used to improve lighting.

The new LED lights can be controlled by an app downloaded to smartphones or tablets to regulate the brightness of the lights and control when lights turn on and off. Lighting can be customized for each office.

Shartzter said the cost savings for phase one is $927,000 annually. Cost savings is not just in the energy savings, but also in maintenance and demand charges. The lighting is made by a Southern California company who offers a 10-year warranty on all their products covering the lights if they break and if there is degradation.

“If I go in and take a light level reading today and its 100, and come back in 10 years and its 95, they will replace the light and pay for labor to have it reinstalled,” said Shartzter.

The second phase of the project began April 16. Eight more buildings are being upgraded. Light fixtures in the Exchange and food court will be replaced as well.

In the third phase, 46 buildings will be upgraded throughout Edwards AFB making it the largest lighting effort. The additional annual savings for phase three will be $923,000 and it will save 4.6 million kilowatt hours.

“Our projects are geared to improve working conditions and save money not only on the base but for the taxpayer. That is important for our office to do and we are not done,” Shartzter said.

District Update | May 23, 2018

REP. KNIGHT'S SECRET ACT BECOMES LAW BILL TO SUPPORT NATIONAL SECURITY PASSES FINAL HURDLE

(Washington, DC) - On Tuesday, May 22, 2018, H.R. 3210, the Securely Expediting Clearances Through Reporting Transparency (SECRET) Act was signed into law by President Donald Trump. Introduced by Representative Steve Knight (R-CA) in July of 2017, the SECRET Act will implement a variety of provisions to increase accountability of the security clearance process and improve the system to more efficiently process cases in a timely manner.

Specifically, this bill requires that the National Background Investigations Bureau (NBIB) within the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) to report on the backlog of security clearance investigations as well as a mitigation plan to remedy the excessive wait times. Additionally, the Executive Office of the President must report on the process used for conducting and adjudicating clearance investigations for the President's staff. The bill also includes provisions to direct the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) to report on and provide recommendations to improve government-wide continuous evaluation programs, classified information requests, and the overall process for investigating security clearances.

“This is a big win for our district and the country,” said Rep. Knight “Our area is home to a wide array of federal contractors working on the most advanced aerospace, defense, and scientific research projects. These job creators are dependent on the ability to hire a highly skilled workforce who are properly cleared to work on these important projects. However, under the status quo, it often takes many months or even years for a newly hired employee to start working just because they were waiting for their security clearance to get through the massive backlog at OPM.”

“This situation is unacceptable. Not only does it slow down the production of important projects, but it also deters qualified prospective workers from taking these jobs. This causes a talent drain in these sectors and ultimately hurts our national interests. The SECRET Act was formed with heavy input from local business owners and employees and will address this urgent problem. I am very thankful for the wide bipartisan support this bill has received in both chambers of Congress and am especially pleased that this is now in black and white law. This will go a long way towards creating more stable job opportunities in our area and continuing our region's leadership in the industries we have always excelled in.”

Representative Knight is a veteran of the U.S. Army and currently serves on the House Armed Services Committee and the House Science, Space, and Technology Committee.

Representative Steve Knight, (R-Antelope Valley), represents California's 25th Congressional District in the US House of Representatives, which includes the communities throughout the Antelope, Santa Clarita and Simi Valleys

Civ-Mil Supports Military Appreciation Day

By Mike Belzil

On Saturday, May 19th, 2018, military retirees from all services were honored in Hangar 1210 at Edwards Air Force Base for the annual Military Retiree Appreciation Day. A large group of retirees and spouses were treated to a fantastic program that included remarks by Brigadier General Carl Schaefer, an update on military retiree topics by CAPT Paul Frost, USN (Ret), flight line tours and more than 20 informational booths to assist military retirees and spouses with needed services

Civ-Mil supported the event by serving a hot breakfast of scrambled eggs, sausage and breakfast potatoes to all in attendance. The serving crew was led by Civ-Mil President Al Hoffman, and he was joined by Mike Belzil, Scott Cummings and Bill McCabe. Civ-Mil served meals for more than two hours. At the end of the breakfast service, the team sliced and plated a large sheet cake. All in attendance enjoyed both the breakfast and the cake. Numerous retirees thanked the Civ-Mil servers for providing a hearty breakfast.

Military Retiree Appreciation Day 2018 was supported by a large contingent of active duty volunteers led by the event volunteer Point of Contact, MSgt Paralta. General Schaefer and Command Chief Jones personally welcomed and spoke with countless retirees and spouses throughout the day. The event was enjoyable and rewarding for the retirees who made the trip to the base; and the Civ-Mil serving crew was proud to represent our organization as part of the volunteer cadre.

Civ-Mil Annual Elections Slated for July

By Mike Belzil

Planning for Civ-Mil board of director annual elections is under way. One third of the 21 director positions are up for election each year. Lisa Moulton is chairing this year's nominating committee, assisted by John Fergione. They will be presenting a slate of candidates for the full board's consideration at their July meeting. The incumbents whose terms expire this year are: George Nagy, Rhonda Nelson, Dave Norris, Bob Slade, Mark Thompson, Les Uhazy and Matt Winheim.

Elections will be held online on the Civ-Mil website, so watch your email for further instructions. If any changes are needed for electronic delivery, please contact John Fergione at 661-917-2871. Anyone wishing a paper ballot can obtain one through John.

Anyone interested in competing in the election for a three-year director position, can contact Lisa or John as soon as possible. The incoming directors will be installed during the Annual Civ-Mil Installation banquet in the September-October time frame.

Civ-Mil Community Outreach Day on Edwards AFB, May 18, 2018

Photos by Al Hoffman

On Friday, May 18, 2018, Brigadier General Carl Schaefer, joined by Command Chief Master Sergeant Roosevelt Jones, invited Civ-Mil members to a Community Outreach Day at the base. Sixteen Civ-Mil members enjoyed a full day of activities which included a museum visit, facility tours, a flight line tour, lunch at the dining facility and an afternoon reception at Club Muroc.
